- Disposal of all packing materials
- Any state and/or local taxes
- Any cost for bonds and bank guarantees
- Liquidated damages or penalty clauses
- Any contractual agreements between the client and main contractor

Escalation :

- GKD must be released to procure all raw material necessary to complete this project at time of award, or within 30 days of bid closing, whichever comes sooner. If at the expiration of this period GKD is not released to procure all raw materials, the following increases to the total contract price will apply: 2% per month

General remarks:

- All prices are net, excluding any duties, taxes and alike.
- Price validity is 30 days and is subject to possible later adjustments depending on the latest market prices for stainless steel raw material.
- Prices are valid for a single total order of the GKD panels.
- The above quotation is valid for the a.m. panel quantities, dimensions and total quantity as well as for the finish and accessories as described. The specifications and prices may change as the project develops.
- As far as the application has not been agreed with us, the delivery shall only be made to the usual or advertised specifications. Whether our products are suitable for the intended use is the responsibility of the customer.
- Price and Time Escalation for Materials. The proposal price for this project has been calculated based on the current prices and availabilities for the component materials. However, the market for the materials is considered to be volatile, and price increases and delays could occur. Should there be an increase in the price of any materials after the date of this proposal or should material availability become affected after the date of this proposal, then GKD - GEBR. KUFFERATH AG shall no longer be bound by this proposal and shall have the right to make corresponding adjustments in this proposal with respect to price and time of performance.
- To avoid contact corrosion between stainless steel and other materials a galvanic separation has to be foreseen.
- Our General Terms and Conditions of Sale and Supply apply, please see www.gkd.de.

We hope that the above quotation / budget price is of interest and will gladly be of further help for any questions you may have.

Kind regards,
GKD – Gebr. Kufferath AG
